RiiG Launches Executive Briefings

RiiG has always been known for its innovation and thought provoking comments on claims. To harness this and to provide a genuine open forum for claims professionals to hear views from leaders in the profession, we have launched our own Executive Briefing Programme.

The Executive Briefings are geared around the issues of the day and the sessions bring a range of industry players to discuss and challenge some of the key issues facing the industry.

“We are looking to develop and challenge the status quo on a series of issues”, commented Gordon Vater, Managing Director of RiiG. “Our industry faces a number of challenges and we all have views on them – the briefings are aimed at providing a forum for claims professionals to pool their thoughts. I have the feeling we will – looking at our range of speakers – get some pretty lively debates!”

The first in the series – “Man versus Machine” will take place on 28 June 2011 – see Event entry or email jo.smith@riig.co.uk for further information.
